This village had 450 residents up to the end of 1945. Contrary to the Council's figures, according to the Census 2011 we now have 2494 population some 17% increase on 2001 Census. The village like the country is full up. The main road is Lewis Road through the village is now too overcrowded with parked and moving cars, its just an accident awaiting to happen. The main Southam road is also very busy, not only at peak times, any extra pressure from new home owners would increase this pressure greatly.

The views across the Church and countryside will just be another blot on the landscape.

I understand the school is now full, there is no Doctor Surgery in the village now, and the local pub is too expensive that very few villagers use it.

NO, NO NO more Housing in this Village we have already too many now.
